"From responding to the COVID-19 pandemic to helping secure major federal funding for projects across the state like the $2,000,000,000 Electron Ion Collider at Brookhaven National Labs and the refinancing of Co-Op City's federally-backed mortgage, Garrett was crucial to so many successes of our office and our ability to deliver for the people of New York," said Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer. "Nobody knows New York like Garrett. He is smart, strategic and has a rare ability to build trust and credibility across diverse constituencies."

Armwood served in Senator Schumer's office for seven years, first as Long Island Director and later as Deputy State Director. He brings integral connections across New York State along with over a decade of experience running and participating in successful political campaigns.

"I'm thrilled to join such a renowned firm as SL Green and play a part in their initiatives to deliver exciting new projects for the city and for New Yorkers," said Garrett Armwood, Vice President of Government Affairs at SL Green.
